ADMINISTRATION

HARRY LEWIS, Ph.D.
Principal

Realizing that the principal sets the tone of a school we are happy that Dr. Lewis chose to accept the responsibilities of leadership at Arts High.

Although Dr. Lewis has been here less than one year, he has firmly established himself as a most capable administrator. His quiet dignity, his patience, his boundless energy, and his enthusiasm have helped him to overcome the problems that he encounters everyday. He has very quickly managed to get a good clear picture of the school and its intricate design.

Dr. Lewis often surprises teachers and students by dropping in unexpectedly during classes or leisurely walking through the halls surveying everything with a critical eye. His optimism and cheerfulness permeate the atmosphere of the building.

A firm but fair disciplinarian, Dr. Lewis has gained the respect and admiration of both faculty and students. Seniors especially appreciate his concern and interest because they have benefited from his vast experience in the field of education.

Dr. Lewis is a graduate of Bloomfield High. He received his B.A. and M.A. from Montclair State College and his Ph. D. from New York University. He taught math at Ivy Junior High and West Side High School. Dr. Lewis helped to prepare prospective teachers at New York University and also taught actuaries there. Later on he served on the Board of Examiners in Newark and, before coming to Arts, was chairman of the Math Department at East Side High School.

Under the inspirational leadership of Dr. Lewis, we are confident that Arts High will continue to develop and coordinate its efforts to provide our students with the best possible educational program. We hope that he will find his years here both satisfying and rewarding.

ADMINISTRATION

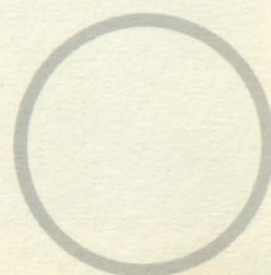

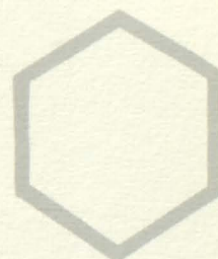

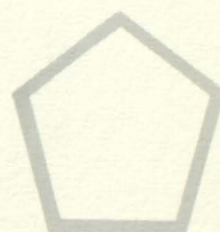

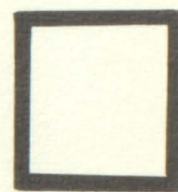

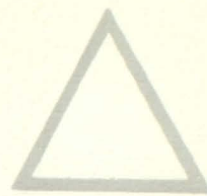

Mrs. Geller is proud of Arts High and we are proud of her. Her versatility, hard work, good judgement and skill in handling students' problems are indicative of the highly efficient fashion in which she performs her daily tasks. Her sincere interest and dedication are apparent in her participation in all phases of school life. Our vice-principal has a strong sense of responsibility to others and gives unselfishly of her time and herself. Because of her deep sense of loyalty and her devotion to duty, she has earned the esteem of the student body and the faculty.

SCOPE, Student Council, English Department—all have been influenced by this man. Who can say thank you? Somehow “thank you” sticks in our throats. It doesn’t seem to fit. We shall all leave, but even students, we who have been here for only four years, manage to depart with a share of the profits. When he leaves us, after years of service, we shake his hand, give him an honorable discharge and say “thank you”. He who gave so much gets paid with “thank you”.

We who were close to him realize that there is no appropriate fee we can offer him. When he walks out the door, what will he take with him? A yearbook, a paycheck and all our best wishes. To people who enjoy teaching as much as he did, and enjoy sharing in the experiences of their students, these will be intangible, but durable satisfactions—to know the accomplishments of his students through the years is a benefit not paid by a pension plan.

Who can say good-bye to a man such as this? Some of Shakespeare’s thoughts may be more appropriate. His life has been gentle, and the elements so mixed in him that his students may stand up and say to all the world, “There goes a man!”

Even Ann Landers couldn't remedy this situation.

What a revolting development this is!

"I heard a thousand blended notes—somewhere."

"I am the greatest," exclaims Brack, but apparently those aren't Jenny's sentiments.

DOWN IN THE VALLEY

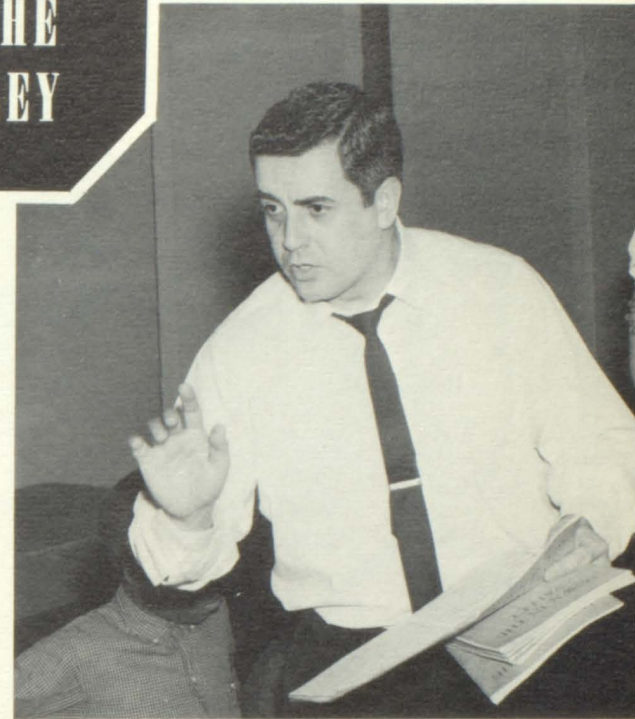

Something's coming from down in the valley.

Let's try it again, this time with the right notes.

The song of the melancholy makes us shed some heart-felt tears.

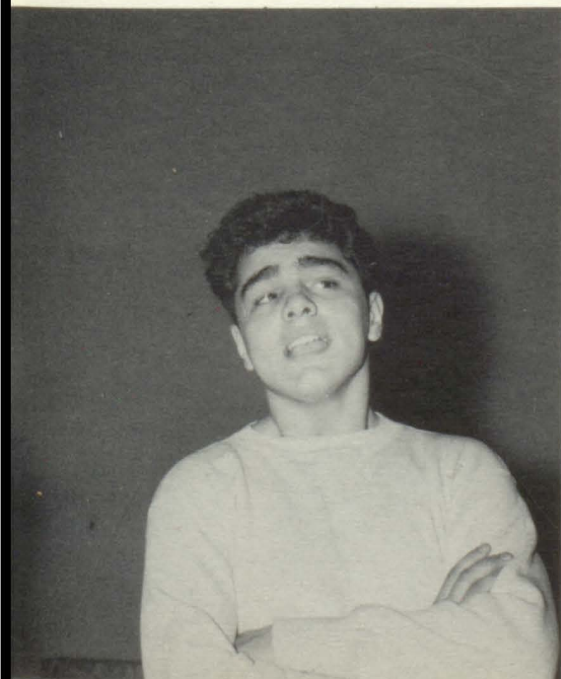

Annually the music and art departments combine their talent and skills in presenting an opera. Last year's production was entitled A Concert of American Folk Music and "Down In The Valley" (an American folk opera) by Kurt Weill.

In the opera story sweet Jenny Parsons was forbidden to attend the Shadow Creek dance with Brack Weaver because her father wanted her to go with wealthy Mr. Thomas Bouche. Jenny defied her father. At the dance, in a fight started by Bouche over Jenny, Bouche pulled a knife and was killed by Brack. Brack was taken to jail from which he later escaped. He went to see Jenny and in a vision they re-lived their moments together.

But Brack wasn't the only one with problems. Mr. Pickett and Mr. Pesile had a few too. Cast, chorus, and opera orchestra had to be chosen; costumes had to be designed and scenery constructed. Miss Howard and Mr. Knobler solved the latter two problems.

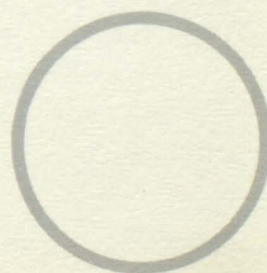

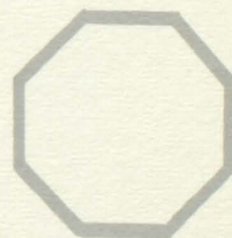

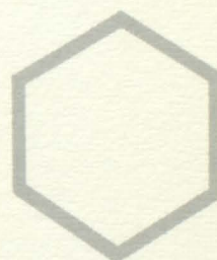

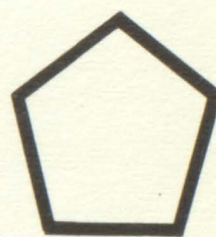

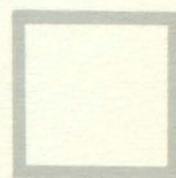

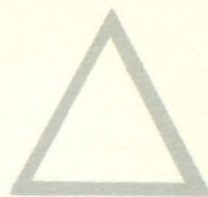

Despite the hard work and long hours of rehearsal everyone felt the effort was extremely worthwhile.

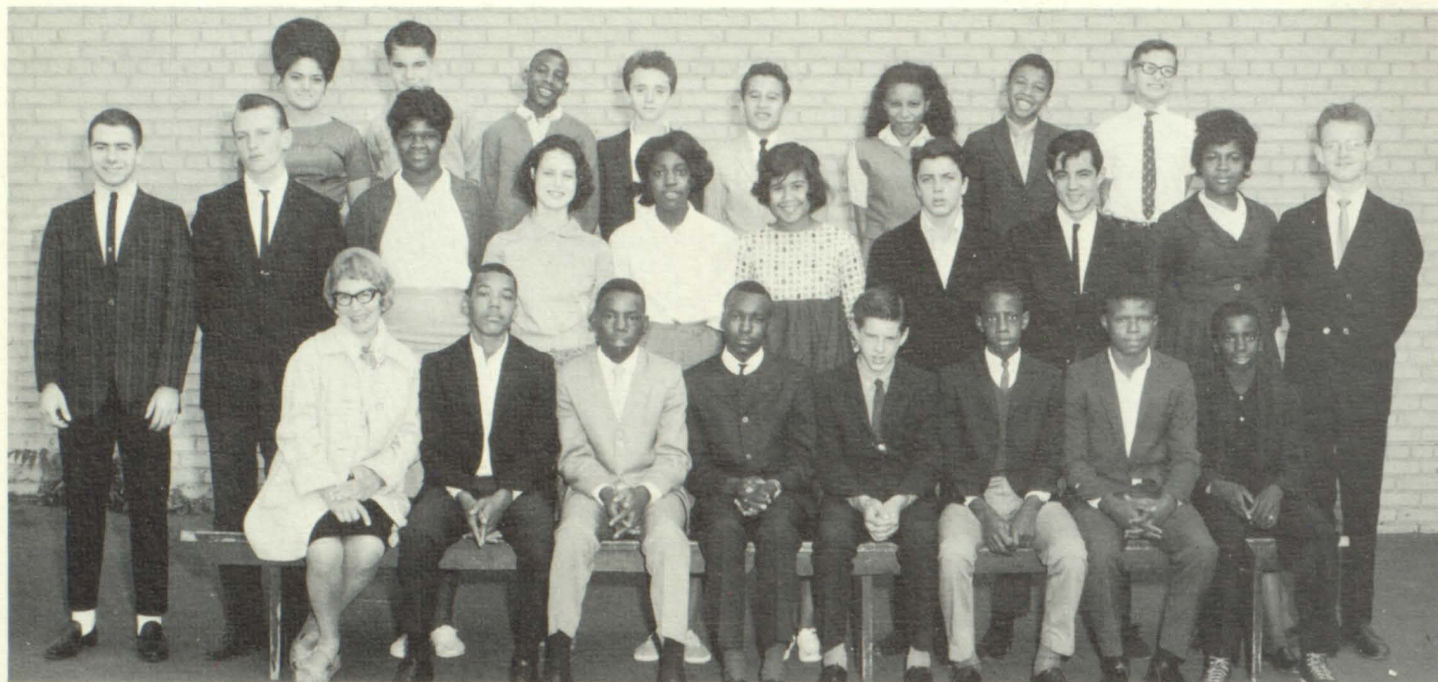

Melodies heard are sweet but those unheard are sweeter.

The 1963 baseball season for Arts closed with a record of four wins out of the sixteen games played. There was one tie with Bergen Tech. and two games were rained out. According to Coach Lang, two games (Harrison High and Oratory) were very close. Of the sixteen players on the team, twelve received letter awards. Kenneth Garry made some of the most outstanding plays.

Coach Lang gives a talk on the necessary ingredients for winning ball games—the head, the heart, and the arm.

BASKETBALL TEAM

This man has added S-P-R-I-N-G to his step.

Too hot to handle!

The basketball team enjoyed one of its most successful seasons ending with a 14-7 record.

Ken Miller, our captain, was selected on both the Newark News and Star Ledger all-city teams. He and Doug Randolph are considering college scholarships with help from athletics aids-in-grant.

The climax of the season was reached when Arts upset highly favored Roselle Park, last year's sectional II champion, in the State Tournament 57-54. In a thriller, the team lost to Clifford Scott, the eventual sectional champ, 63-55. Our boys led until the final three minutes but then slowly the lead slipped away.

Mr. Voller was particularly pleased with the team's real fighting spirit, cooperation, and most of all, the skills they developed.

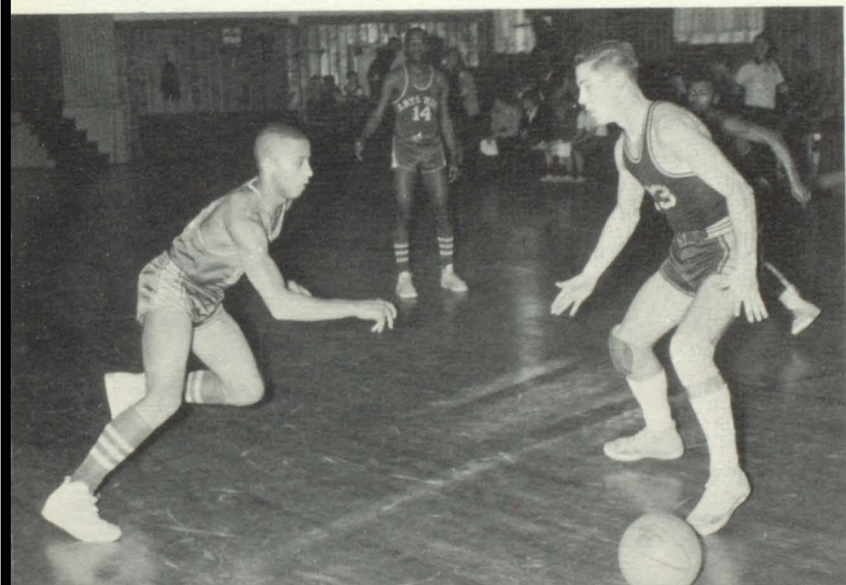

Seniors leaving the team are Ken Miller, Douglas Randolph, Joe Evans, Ken Brown, Tyrone Howell, John Milton, and Edward Kennedy who will surely be missed.

FACULTY VARSITY BASKETBALL GAME

Kenny Miller attempts to score but loses the ball to the brilliant array of superstars: the Globe-Trotting Mr. Morris, the Mighty Mr. Tobia, and the Amazing Mr. Thomas.

The Faculty-Varsity Basketball Game and Dance is always one of the most delightful social-athletic highlights of the school year. It's a must on everyone's engagement calendar.

The game is traditionally an exciting one packed with suspense until the final moments even though the faculty team is always a "prohibitive" favorite. The prospect of having the educators as sure-winners does not appear to dampen the spirits of our inexperienced varsity players though they admit privately that they are sometimes filled with an uneasiness that approaches dread.

Our faculty squad members are all dribble artists, veteran strategists, phenomenal ball handlers and shot-makers of fantastic ability.

Naturally we all anticipate a great basketball show and anxiously await the rugged struggle of these superbly matched teams.

There'll be some artful maneuvering on the dance floor, too!

THIS IS THE GAME THAT WAS postponed from March 6 to April 10 because of the Bus strike.

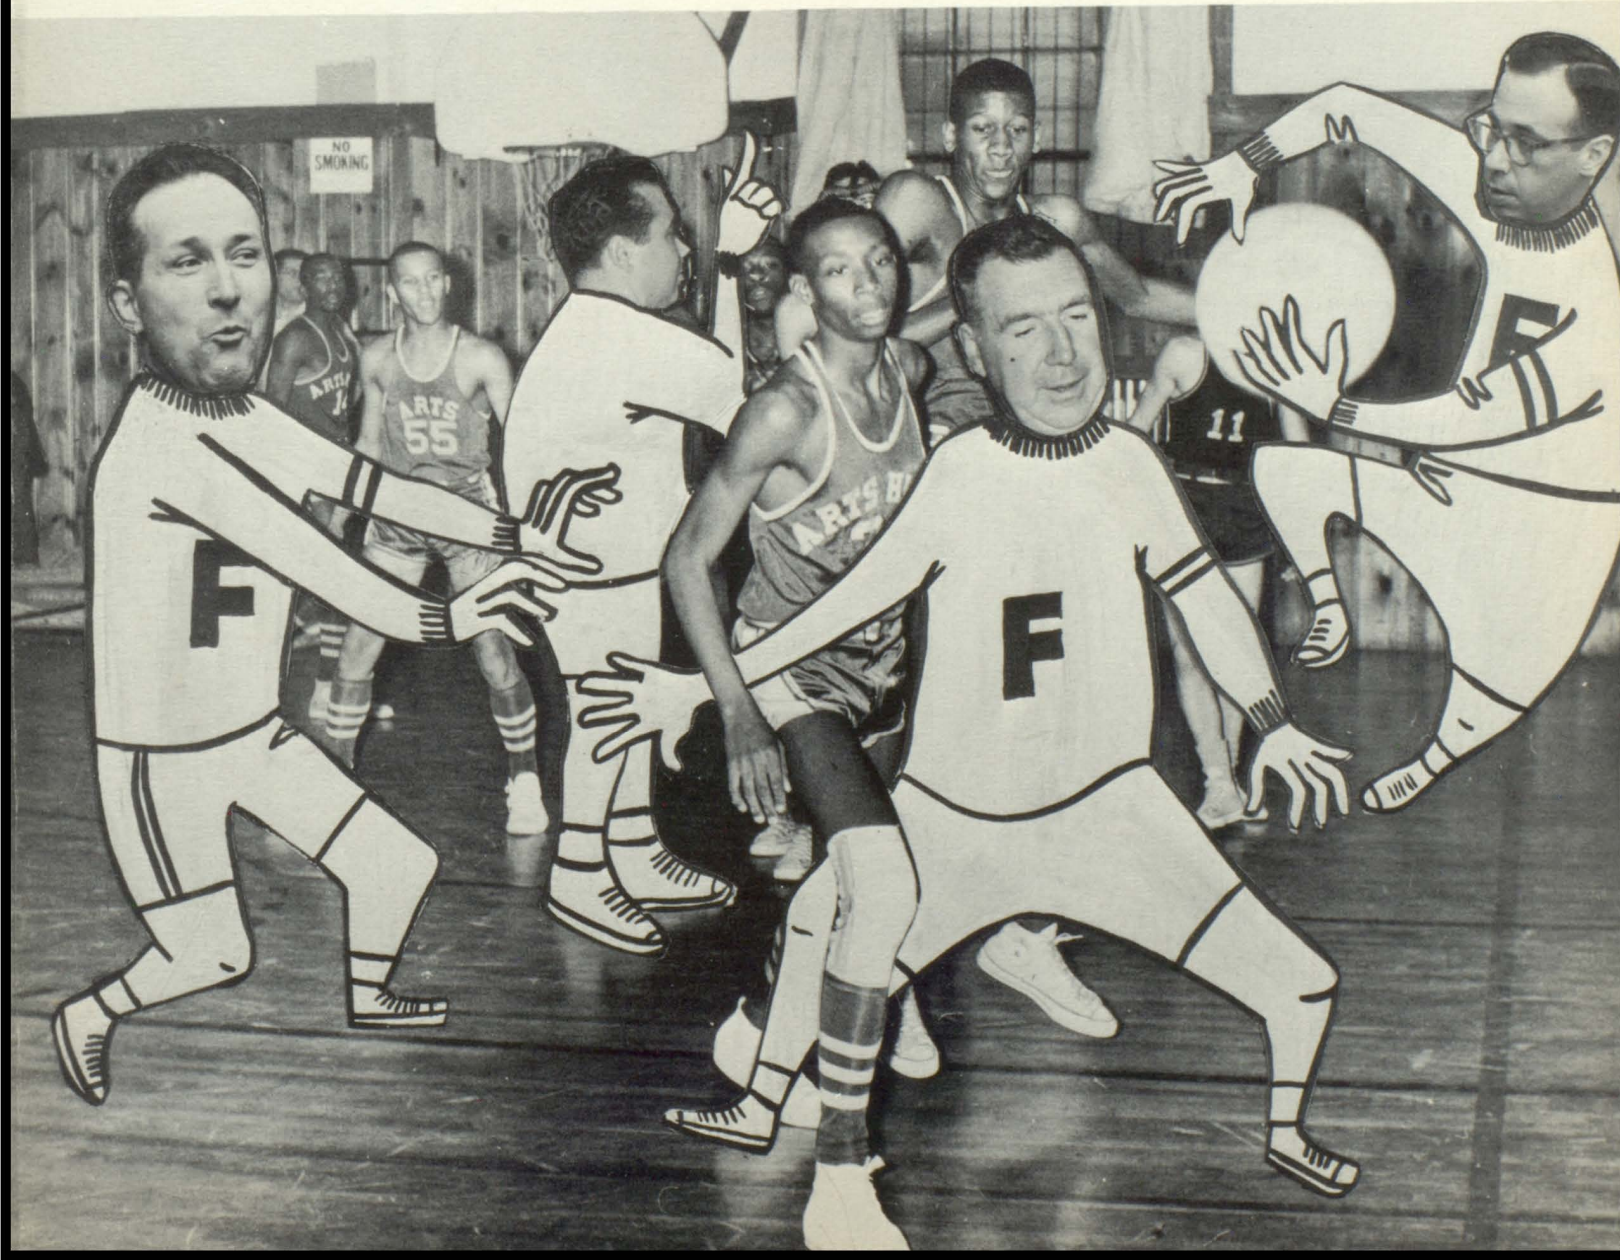

Since this publication went to press before the game was played, Artie Swamis got a preview of the major battle by gazing into their crystal ball which revealed the following:

It all began when members of Arts High's Faculty gathered to meet the mighty Varsity. As the starting time neared, the tension grew; all waited with bated breath for the battle. The buzzer rang and with a hop, skip, and a jump the Varsity was off. A little two step by Mr. Tobia marked the Faculty's entrance. Mr. Gentile, tried to devise the right formula for a sure fire basket but it resulted in two points for the adversary. Mr. Thomas soon found that it took more than a little Physics to score against the Varsity. Mr. Lang proved that brawn and brains must go hand in hand while Mr. Knobler showed how a little craft could get that ball between the weaving. Mr. Coles was upstaging everyone while Mr. Calvin went off on a tangent. Mr. Morris fighting all the way, made history play by play while, "Twinkle Toes Voller" counseled the crew and saved the day.

The Varsity tried their best but with Mr. Steisel there to help extrapolate the "dater" how could the results not fractify in favor of the good old faculty.

Observe Mr. Lang's offensive play, Mr. Gentile's clever strategy, Mr. Voller's fancy footwork and Mr. Knobler's superb ball handling.

SOCCER TEAM

Through the determination and hard work of the players, under the able coaching of Mr. Lang, our soccer team met with success in its first year of competition. Although posting an unimpressive record, the boys played a tough schedule, losing many games by close scores. The team and Coach Lang were commended by opposing coaches as well as by officials. The lack of equipment didn't hinder the players from getting into a game. Despite the loss of 5 graduating seniors we have a promising group of boys for next season, and hope soon to see a championship trophy at Arts.

This season the swimming team, under the coaching of Mr. Knobler has the strongest team since 1952 when Arts won the City Championship. After stroking to an excellent record of 10 wins against only 4 defeats, our swimmers tied Barringer for fourth place in the City Championship Meet. There were eight teams competing. In the city meet, Ihor Wynarezuk took third in the 100 yard backstroke; Gary Seaman, fourth in the 40 yard free style; Terry Glynn, fourth in the 100 yard butterfly and Reggie Jenkins, Vernon Edwards, and Terry Glynn teamed up to capture silver medals in the 160 yard free style relay.

During the regular season a swimming meet consists of ten events. The distances of these events range from 40 yards to 400 yards. Terry Glynn, who will serve as next year's captain, was the leading scorer for the team this year with 81 points.

Splash, splash! Ready for the next dash . . .

Now they're spreading their wings for the finish line.

The track team in 1963 had a fine season with a dual record of 5 wins against only 2 losses. They culminated this by placing third in the State Vocational Technical Meet and fifth in the Annual City Meet.

The hard working team, which was spearheaded by captain Tom Lambright exemplified exceptional strength in both the track and field events.

The high scorer for the team was Harvey Knox who ran the low hurdles, high hurdles, and the broad jump. Tommy Lambright, a consistent scorer in the quarter mile was given plenty of help by teammate John McLean. Vincent Holmes, a devoted half miler was elected as this year's captain. scorers in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

The mainspring of the team was the pole vault. Gary Seaman our Newark Record holder in that event will be joined this year by a very good vaulter in John Iwanechko who was ineligible last year.

The mile run had two good striders in Alvin Fudge and William Bland who are young and show promise for forthcoming years.

Douglas Randolph and Tyrone Howell were consistent scorers in the high jump; William Griffin and Clarence Drayton, broad jumpers, will be back again next year. In the shot put, Gary Seaman was a consistent scorer and Carl Kovack, Matt Swajkowski and Allan Struck covered the other weight events.

CHEERLEADERS

The Cheering Squad members, with their bubbling enthusiasm, have kept up the morale of the team throughout the entire season. We are happy to say that this has been one of our best years, and the girls have made everyone at Arts proud of them. Under the expert guidance of Miss Abos, tryouts are held in the spring of the year. The applicants must receive written approval from all school teachers stating that they have sufficient time after school to contribute the necessary hours for the practice which makes our girls so outstanding. Neatness, cordiality, sportsmanship, and alertness are among their valuable assets.

CHRISTMAS FAIR

"Glory to God in the Highest!"

The attack of the "A" men.

The Christmas Fair is an all out effort by the student body to raise funds for the Vignette, our school yearbook. For weeks in advance an air of anticipation and suspense fills the school as students work together turning cloth into lustrous costumes, lumps of clay into pottery, and a host of odds and ends into useful household gadgets. The evening soon arrives and displayed are the fruits of long hours of labor. Painting, ceramics, enamels, and hand sewn articles are only a few of the art projects available for sale. The cake sale, white elephant sale, and wishing well are added attractions to this wholly enjoyable evening.

Finally the enchanted hour arrives when the annual Christmas pageant is performed. As the archangel, in full attire, stands motionless the chorus begins "The Christmas Story" by Ron Nelson. In the series of tableaux which follow the whole Christmas story is depicted. The glory and pageantry lasts but a short time but the memory of this evening lingers.

Experiments in good eating.

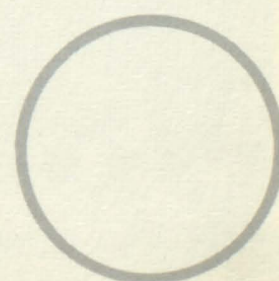

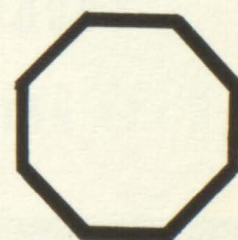

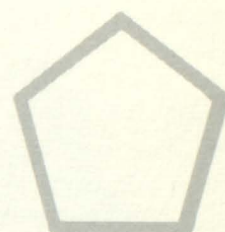

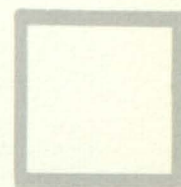

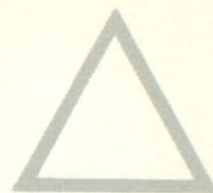

Decisions . . . Decisions . . . Decisions.

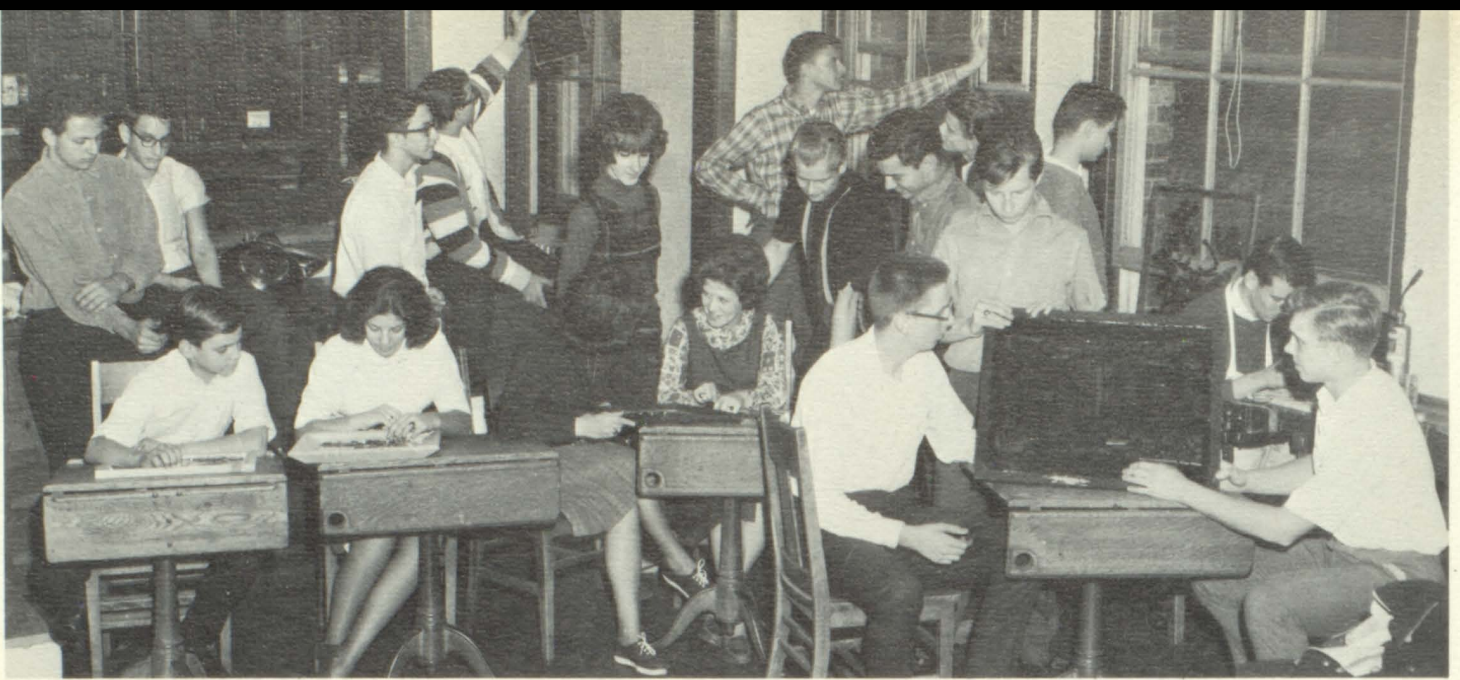

"Just for you, I'll reduce the price!"

The Craftsmen's Group is a unique organization composed of art and music students which is dedicated to developing appreciations of hand craftsmanship and to the execution of personal creation.

The Group has an active membership of approximately 15 people and has no officers or regular meeting dates or time. One of the most popular activities has been a number of fascinating trips to museums and art galleries in New York City. The members do work in stain glass, silver, copper, enameling and woodwork. They make rings, pins and other objects of beauty. The popular red Valentine hearts for the Senior Dance were made by this group.

CRAFTSMEN'S GROUP

CHORUS

In its entirety, the chorus has one hundred and eighty members. The students attend chorus classes everyday where they rehearse the songs to be sung at the next performance. Mr. Pickett has the sole responsibility of teaching the music for the various performances. The students study and rehearse for this from September to November. Then the pressure is on again to get the songs ready for the Christmas Fair Pageant and the Winter Concert. After these performances, all attention focuses on the forthcoming opera. The opera or musical is the most brilliant production of the year. There is always a full house to view the show. After the opera, work is started for the Spring Concert, the Easter assembly and the Kiwanis Club program. During the course of the year our chorus makes trips to other schools and sings on other important occasions. The last song is sung on graduation night.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club meets every other Wednesday for a bit of song, dance, and general knowledge about France and its people. At the meetings members, under Mr. Del Visco's careful supervision, give reports on French writers, painters, and other topics of interest. A few of the members have French pen pals with whom they keep up a lively correspondence.

LIBRARY GUILD

The Library Guild is made up of conscientious students who willingly spend their study periods and before and after-school hours assisting our librarian Miss Yuker. They work at the charge-desk, mend books and magazines, type cards, shelve books, and do some filing. The members also have time for some fun. A-PIN

The A-Pin is awarded to deserving students by the Student Council in the latter part of each semester. In order to earn this pin along with other criteria, a student must have given consistent and outstanding service to the school in activities or clubs which give no other award.

SCOPE

Our school newspaper, the Scope, is the best guide for all of our school activities. Under the able direction of Mr. Rickenbacker and a few editors, the Scope's reporters cover everything from sports, assemblies, dances, and clubs to V.I.P.'s, etc. The staff members do a remarkably fine job offering many well-written articles of interest to a variety of readers. Anyone, reporter or otherwise with a juicy tidbit of gossip, an opinion to air, or an original story is welcome in the Scope office.

STAGE CREW

The stage crew members under the direction of Messrs. Marcus and Gommoll, are a group of hardworking, dedicated boys. The boys are responsible for sound equipment and staging. One of their major duties is the preparation for the opera production. The boys do everything from building and painting scenery to providing sound effects and lighting. They all enjoy their work and, besides gaining A-pin credit, learn valuable skills.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the legislative organ of the student government. Every Thursday after school, two representatives from each home-room and one from each club meet to handle such matters as arranging dances, selecting A-pin candidates, contacting other schools, and many more which the student body present themselves.

The Council tries to meet the wishes of the school. This was shown especially this year through a questionnaire of student opinion on many topics, and by prompt response to student's wishes, after these were all collected.

Among the most successful Student Council functions were International Day, the Annual F.C. Seamster Scholarship Fund Dance, and the Freshman Orientation Program.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

Participating in parades, concerts, and assembly programs are some of the activities of our school Band. Under the leadership of Mr. Tobia, the types of music vary from classical and novelty tunes to music from Broadway shows. The delightful, harmonious programs presented demonstrate the ability of these musicians and indicate the reasons for their recognition and selection of some of the group for membership in the All-State Band.

Under the baton of Mr. Pesile, the Arts High School Orchestra had distinguished itself as an unusually fine group participating in many assembly programs, concerts, and operas. The orchestra has provided many memorable performances and its members are invited to participate in the All-City and the All-State Orchestras.

Each December the National Honor Society plays host to the alumni. This social event is a rewarding experience both for faculty and graduates.

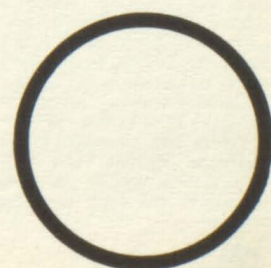

The members also serve as ushers at our operas and concerts as student aides and on the day our entrance examinations are held.

Our chapter of the National Honor Society, named in honor of our former vice-principal Miss M. Bernice Hamilton, is under the expert supervision of Miss David.

SENIORS

CLASS ADVISORS

Mrs. Furst, our genial senior class co-advisor has gained the respect of all who know her. As an experienced, dedicated history teacher who expects the best performance from her students, she is willing and eager to tutor pupils needing extra help. Although Mrs. Furst has no favorite students, once you have earned her friendship, you'll have it always. She's a perfect example of a hard-working, sincere educator who has had a great influence on her many students. They not only admire her but are grateful to her for what she has taught them about the political, social and economic problems of the world in which we live.

JOSEPH REUTER
B.A.
Latin

Mr. Reuter is a strong believer in the principle of "live and let live." As a teacher, Mr. Reuter shows a deep interest in his students and offers advice and leadership whenever requested. In his role as co-advisor of the Senior Class, he has helped to organize all our activities. Latin and Mr. Reuter have been linked simultaneously at Arts for eight years, but more recently he has also been teaching English. Although he appears to be a man of few words, his students soon discover that on occasion, he can also be easy-going and carefree. His eyes reveal understanding, wisdom, and friendliness. He accomplishes much, quietly and thoroughly. The Senior Class appreciates his valuable assistance.

SENIOR HOMEROOM TEACHERS

ALFRED GENTILE
B.S.
Mathematics

Mr. Gentile's warm jovial smile is matched only by his personality and his subtle humor. His genuine interest in his students creates a relaxing, harmonious atmosphere. He is never too busy to give a few minutes time to despairing geometry and algebra students. Although generally easy going, it is well known especially among his homeroom students he tolerates no unnecessary nonsense. He has found time to participate in many after school activities and volunteers his services whenever possible. All of these factors have helped to make Mr. Gentile a well liked and respected teacher.

MISS GLADYS HOWARD
B.S., M.A.
Art

Miss Howard is a rugged individualist who strives for perfection in herself and her students. An excellent teacher possessing an active, curious mind, she accepts no statement without first questioning it. Although she always maintains strict discipline, her high spirit, cheerful outlook, and dynamic personality have added much to the atmosphere of her classes. A well-rounded person who has traveled extensively throughout the world, Miss Howard can discuss the customs, politics, and cultures of many countries in a fascinating manner. Her art lectures are always both provocative and inspiring. She is well-loved, admired and respected by all who have come to know her during her years at Arts High.

RUTH MEYERSON
B.A.
Mathematics

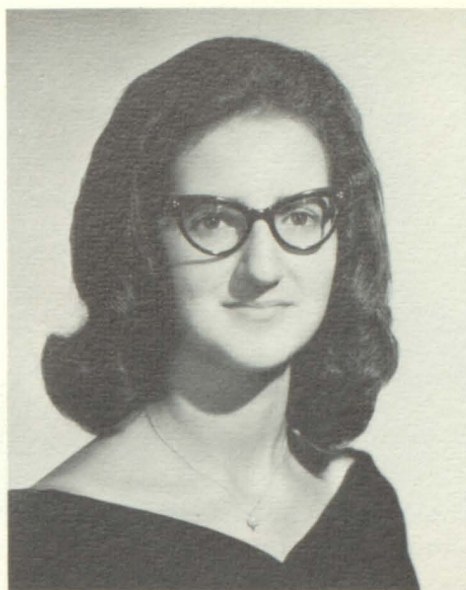

A grand sense of humor coupled with a keen mind and driving energy are part of the forceful personality that is Miss Meyerson. She is always ready to lend a helping hand to all students who are interested in learning. Besides serving as faculty advisor to the Math Club in which she both inspires and drives us, she concerns herself with our other group and school wide activities. Among the most impressive things about her are her patience and her desire to assist us with problems and her constant encouragement. Her homeroom members fully appreciate her guidance and will long remember her as a very warm hearted person.

ALLAN J. SHAPIRO
B.A., M.A.
History

One can always recognize Mr. Shapiro by the aura that surrounds him—a cloud of warmth, good humor, understanding, sincerity and dedication. A truly great teacher, he is an expert in two subjects: history and character development. The latter was taught in Homeroom 318, and done so well, that we who participated didn't realize what was happening until the results became noticeable. He firmly believes that a store-house of knowledge is not sufficient to make students constructive citizens. He teaches by example, installing in us a sense of duty and responsibility as well as a real desire for self-improvement. He is also a top flight business man, as evidenced by his performance as financial advisor for both Scope and Vignette.
